Job Title: Lead Instructor
Supervised by: Program Managers, Education Specialist
Supervises: n/a
Classification: Part-time, average of 8.5 hours per week, Hourly, Non-exempt
Start Date: June 2024 for Summer 2024 programs and onwards
Posting Date: April 2024

ORGANIZATION SUMMARY:

Intonation works with young people in Chicago to experience making music on their own terms, leading to personal growth and the enrichment of their communities.

Offered in partnership with schools, park districts, and community organizations, our year-round classes make music accessible to children by providing them with instruments, instruction, mentorship, and the chance to perform on stages across the city. Each Intonation student takes part in a personal and team approach to practice, setting goals and problem solving; and over time, they gain the confidence to take charge of their direction and seek out new experiences.

ABOUT INTONATION'S CLASSES:

Intonation offers in-person and remote music learning programs. Our in-person programs take place at schools and park districts throughout the week (except Sunday) at varying times. A typical class has 12 students, a lead instructor and a co-instructor with most school-year classes meeting twice-weekly for an hour. Other classes vary in duration and frequency. Some classes meet as little as one hour per week, with other classes meeting up to four hours per week. Most of our instructors start by teaching one class/site, with hours increasing with experience. Our unique curriculum is tailored by age and skill level for students 3rd - 12th grade with varying musical abilities. Some have taken lessons before while many have never even picked up an instrument.

Our remote-learning programs take place via teleconference and are focused primarily on digital music production using Soundtrap, a digital music-making platform. We also utilize pre-recorded videos and live instrumentation in select remote learning offerings. All equipment needed for live and remote learning is provided to students.

POSITION SUMMARY:

Commitment, flexibility, reliability, patience, professionalism, and enthusiasm are essential for success in Intonation's physical and remote classroom spaces. Instructors will guide students in all aspects of forming and working together as an ensemble, in both remote and in-person settings: playing instruments (including DAWs), learning songs, setting up, tuning, songwriting, playing as a group, listening to one another, communicating effectively, supporting each other, stage presence and, of course, LIVE performance. In addition to teaching musical skills, Instructors will be expected to mentor students in social-emotional skills including teamwork, agency and leadership, community engagement and youth voice, nonviolent conflict resolution and goal setting. Instructors will mediate the occasional dispute and effectively manage a classroom.

INTONATION

Lead Instructors are relied upon to bring their experience and expertise to this leadership role. They represent their class-specific teaching teams as the main point of contact with their Program Manager, acting as lead in class planning, workgroup activities, data collection, and equipment needs
